Life is about looking for your destination. Work is a way to find it. Finding your destination must become a way of life, your way of life.

I am blessed with a creative vision and forming power, enthusiasm, skills to organise and an inspirational personality, but I am not yet there.

Curious too where I am going?

You are welcome to follow me here.

Vision is the connection between an ideal and the belief in your own potential. It requires qualities and character.

Personal drama's make no sense. By taking a breath and looking at them they will get meaning though.

My drive for freedom, happiness and health is what moves me. Yes, I connect with people, but yes my drive moves me. Without borders. I hate the visa thing that still bothers free movement and settlement. Because I would like each other to have the chance to meet. I envision a free world and work on it.

Feedback = respect. My passion is my inner motor. I do not need rewards, but I do need external 'prikkel's', e.g. inspiration (=identification) and encouragement is nice too.

Nature is my inspiration, it gives me peace. It will always be around me.

I desire beauty, gentleness and wholeness.
